Joan Sutherland, Roshi is a teacher in the Zen koan tradition and the first woman teacher in her lineage in the Americas. Her work is a fresh imagining of the Zen koan tradition, rooted in its original understanding of all of life as a process of awakening.

For Joan Sutherland, endarkenment is as essential as enlightenment to awakening, and much of her work is an exploration of the power held in the radiance of the dark. View a short film, The Radiance of the Dark, followed by Q&A facilitated by Andrew Palmer, Sensei.

Sponsored by Wet Mountain Sangha, Zen Buddhist community established in Pueblo, 2005.
